

EDITORIAL

Feeling very happy to announce that the current (tenth) issue of the online journal “Episteme” covering seven nations, including India is launched on a new website specifically made to produce more vibrant and colourful editions in the coming times for our valuable readers. The credit for this initiative goes to all our admirers keeping in touch with us in the form of contributors and the readers. The current issue is made vibrant for our diversified readers.

The current issue is enriched with the special features as:

- ❖ Research articles on marketing, technology, economics and philosophy
- ❖ Refreshing poems
- ❖ Short story and
- ❖ A long literary interview

The other highlights are:

- ❖ Spotlight on the writer: Sandra Joran, a distinguished artist from Australia
- ❖ Women - an icon of love, sacrifice and tolerance in the work of Shah Abdul Latif , a famous poet from Hyderabad, Sindh

Putting forward this issue, I take the opportunity to thank all our valued contributors for supporting this intellectual endeavor to satisfy the global readers .

Episteme: an online interdisciplinary, multidisciplinary & multi-cultural journal

Bharat College of Commerce, Badlapur, MMR, India

Volume 3, Issue 1

June 2014

Communication of your feedback and expectations will encourage us and direct us to improvise the future editions.

Happy Reading!

Savita Punjabi

Editor

EPISTEME