

HAUNTING WAVES

By Dr.Kiriti Sengupta

mesmerizing kisses unto exposed lips, captured
overwhelmingly fragrant
got me into heaven...
the horizon of untiring
wishes...
fixed in unrealized entity!

FACTUAL

a tight slap at last!
some pungent red,
with added lemon...
no matter
if one earns a living
bed linens arrive fresh
and roses inevitable!
manipulated twists,
fresh operas and
The Mahabharata.

PRECIPITATED

not in water,
but awake
in the soil...
some poison
blue...
it doesn't fade
doesn't float
and doesn't even invite!
touching only a few fingers...

Bio:

Dr. Kiriti Sengupta is a bilingual poet and translator both in Bengali and English. He is the author of the bestselling title, My Glass Of Wine, a novelette based on autobiographic poetry. Kiriti's other works include: My Dazzling Bards (literary critiquing), The Reciting Pens (his interviews of three published Bengali poets along with his translations of a few of their poems), The Unheard I (literary nonfiction), Desirous Water (contributed as the translator).